In Downtown Auckland, is a vast array of skyscrapers outnumbering the people by a huge margin. The once unencumbered city-scape is fast becoming a giant city-block, and the true scale of the problem had been revealed. The world-renowned architect Arrigo Morandi of Caffeine, has spearheaded the rebuilding of the wealthy city districts in a super-fast-forward step and now there's a new question to ask: what would the future bring for the rest of Auckland?

The World Government, now under the power of the International Business Company, has called for all its subjects to rebuild projects that mirror the Caffeine logo. Hundreds of projects are currently being constructed all around the world. Under the new business-friendly policy, thousands are expected to be recruited at a rate not seen since the second world war, while a mysterious black project codename: Caffeine, has been commissioned to rebuild the whole area of Auckland that wasn't destroyed during the sudden overnight calamity. Rejecting all prejudices, the WGC's thinking is that Caffeine will help the economy and, also, is the business of humans. With a complete lack of reference points, that has never happened in history, in this world or that.

Epic 8" Rhomboid Hoop This is a pair of 24K Gold Rhomboid Hoops. They have 24K Gold rims and are set in 18K Gold Cataegis Bands. We do believe these are the most beautiful hoops we have come across. They look like they are hand cast all over. They have 8 pointed diamonds and a large E on each hoop....check out the pictures...they have some splotches that are not like the rest. This pair is not a kit. Each hoop has a hole on both ends if you want to combine another hoop. They are set in very nicely gold plated rings that say "Cataegis" on them. A few dings on the inside but not off center and just a small dent on one of them. Please read item description carefully and look at the pictures. We have had several hoopers who say "They look better in person". All hoops are kept packed in a box with air tight wrapping for display and safe keeping. C: Mo is a light wargame, play on a board of just 12x12 squares. It is intended for two players, and offers six modes of gameplay, each of which incorporates a solid simulation of two military forces at war. Each combat is resolved using set forces, and is played out over the turn of each player. The game contains a tutorial, but no learning curve is assumed in the learning of the game mechanics and rules. Features Fully featured with a good paintable map No "learning curve" - start playing right away Nine troops types in two armies Lots of different scenarios six kinds of battle Heavy/Light Air/Naval Submarine/Bomber ...and more Easy enough to learn and play Easy enough to pick up and learn C: Mo is played on a board of just 12x12 squares, meaning that each square represents a 50 mile front, stretching to the distance of 200 miles on either side of the map. This makes each troop unit representing a company of infantry, a battalion of armour and a squadron of fighter planes, just to name a few. The option to represent more or less force is there to suit differing requirements. A good representation of the actual size of a company in the armed forces It is this easy to learn and play An easy game to learn The map is a great tile map, which has a dynamic influence on the combat, making even small skirmishes real and substantial. There are no visible result counters, instead units may be retired from the board in attack or defense, or are declared already destroyed. If you do have visible result counters, you should be prepared that you might set the game aside for a while, as there are quite a lot of counters. Some forces have special abilities, which can be assessed either before play or when needed on the battlefield. These are generally represented by a card, with the additional option of a "Sprint" ability to move a specific number of squares directly towards a target. Board Shapes There are two main shapes of boards, one for air battle and one for naval battle, and these are equally useful, with the only requirement being that the edges should be approximately straight. In one of the game modes, you are neither air nor naval, but submarines. Air Battle The air battle board
