Toronto FC have made a late change to their roster ahead of their opening match of the Amway Canadian Championship quarter-final away to defending champions Calgary Foothills. While no official reason was given for the move, it has been made clear that the team are stepping into their Canadian Championship preparations with a depleted group of players. Toronto FC begin preparations for Amway Canadian Championship in challenging fashion. After a number of long-term injuries and a club-imposed suspension for some of its players, Toronto FC are not looking forward to having to compete against a strong Calgary team. A look at the starting line-up that will take to the pitch as Toronto FC look to score against Calgary Foothills in the first leg of the Amway Canadian Championship quarter-final against them on Thursday will reveal a reasonably strong side. A goalscoring forward with a penchant for the far post will be needed to open the scoring against the English Premier League side, with Michael Bradley, Jozy Altidore and Darren O'Dea absent after suffering knocks at the weekend. Meanwhile, highly-rated Canadian youth prospect Chris Mavinga has made his first appearance under new head coach Greg Vanney after impressing
